

HARRY MINER'S NEW THEATRE.

To Be Opened To-Night with
"The Robber of the Rhine."

Bills Offered by the Various Play-Houses for Next Week.

The long-delayed opening of the Fifth Avenue Theatre will occur to-night, when "The Robber of the Rhine" will receive its initial production. This new opera, written by Maurice Barrymore and composed by Mr. Fuermer, will be the only novelty on Broadway next week. The book was originally written about five years ago, Mr. Barrymore intending it for a romantic opera, to be called "Waldemar," and which was never fully produced. Mr. Barrymore has revised it considerably, emphasizing the comic interest. The music by Mr. Fuermer is highly spoken of by those who have heard it. Mr. Hayden Coffin, the Anglo-American baritone, will make his American debut in "The Robber of the Rhine." Miss Marion Mandel and Mr. J. H. Ryker will also be in the cast, while the chorus and orchestra will be large and, it is said, of pleasing strength. Mr. Miner's new theatre will delight the eye. The very well known John W. Hamilton has been specially engaged as business manager of the Fifth Avenue Theatre.

"The House on the Marsh" will be seen for the first time in New York Monday afternoon and evening at the Peacock Theatre, according to a telegram from Mr. George Dallas with the consent of the author, Florence Ward. The play is said to contain bright dialogues and situations. Mr. Dallas will play the principal part, that of Gervas Heynder, alias Jim Woodfall, the gentlemans' burglar. The principal supporting players are John C. Power, Harry Maud, Frank Opperman, Irving Williams, Littlefield Powers, and the Misses Kate Vandenhoff, Julia Stuart, Emma Whicker, and Olive Lee.

"Child of Fortune" is reaching a rich harvest at the Lyceum, where a continued audience of over a thousand has been given by several of the former acknowledged successes. Several commencement theatre parties from out-of-town colleges and schools have been given during the closing week, and the most important party of the season will come June 16, the occasion of the West Point cadets' arrival. The house is now packed every night, there will be a double attraction at the Casino, or that on evenings the enlarged and beautiful roof-gardens will be open to general admission. A continental entertainment will be given from 8 o'clock until midnight. The entertainment will consist of the best foreign and promenade concerts by a complete orchestra.

"Robin Hood," at the Garden Theatre, has met with such success that it has been extended two weeks. Elaborate preparations have been made for the two performances to be given Memorial Day.

"Princess Dolgorouky" will begin its summer engagement in the Madison Square Amphitheatre Monday night, and the roof garden will be specially decorated in commemoration of the day, and in the evening Lillian Russell will occupy a box. After the curtain falls, the stars, including the prominent members of her company and of the Bestonians, will ascend to the roof-garden.

Mr. Gilmore and his band will have succeeded in making the season of artistic artists will be made the occasion of a unique ovation.

The third and last week of the Wolf Hoppe's return engagement at the Broadway Theatre begins Monday, and when the four hundredth and closing performance of the spring season is given next Saturday, we will see him in his rôle of the metropolis twenty-six weeks, or the exact half of one year. Mr. Hoppe and his business associates will be in full force, and his artistic organization, so far as happy frame of mind, and not without reason, for the rental of "Wang" has been erected by a committee of his friends, and sacred contracts will be given to-morrow.

Digby Bell and his merry crew, "Jupiter," will open the second half of their very successful engagement at Father's Theatre Monday, when an extra matinee will be given. On Tuesday evening Mr. Bell will open his second engagement at the new American historical hall at the Eden Museum is a great success and evokes the admiration of all visitors. The groups are arranged in a series of skillfully designed scenes, and the introduction of Mr. Henry F. Brown, the well-known artist, makes the part more important, and in this place of meeting in the first act, as far as I can see, may lay the fact of a weather-cock in the second act, and the same in the third act.

John P. Smith's new version of "Mrs. Hartley Stowe's Great Work" and "Tolstoy's Capital" will give review with a bang next week. Many specialties will be introduced, including the "Cruel Witches," "Aida," and the "Cleopatra." As the "Cleopatra" Quartet and twenty Virginia jubilee singers.

The attraction at the Grand Opera-House will be "Koko," and the "Tolstoy" drama will be given next week. The "Two Orphans" will be presented, with Charles A. Stevenson as Justice Friend.

Memorial Day will be celebrated at Edgewood on the Palisades with a concert both afternoon and evening. At night Paul & Son, the new musical comedy, will be given. The arrangements will not interfere with the regular Sunday afternoon and evening concerts.

SPORTING NEWS AND NOTES.

McCarthy and Burns Said to Be in Fine Form for Their Battle.

College Athletes Preparing for the New Jersey A. C. Games.

The sports now have their eyes directed toward Coney Island. On Monday night the programme provided by the Athletic club of the West End will be presented under more favorable circumstances than ever, and the card will be a drawing one. Cal McCarthy, of Jersey City, and Bobby Burns, of Providence, will be the stars of the evening, and they are governed by circumstances that will insure a hot contest. They are to battle in a twenty-four posthole ring for a purse of $2,500, governed by Marquis of Queenberry rules and the gloves are to be of regulation weight. McCarthy is very anxious to win, and says himself that he has done little if anything, or late, to get back into the good graces of those who lost on him. In his fight with Dixon at Troy, McCarthy has whipped Tommy Warren and Tommy Callaghan in the same time, but he does not count these victories as affecting his standing here to any great degree, and he is anxious to show his Northern friends that he is still in the ring. He is said to be looking remarkably well.

A well-known sporting man, in strong Cal up, said: "When McCarthy's clothes don't fit him you can bet he is in condition. He has been taking off his superfluous flesh at easy stages and does not look at all weakened by his reduction in weight. He is now at Coney Island and is working like a beaver, with Jack O'Mara and Tom Collins keeping an eye on him." Burns has been doing all his training at Coney Island and is anxious to win this contest. He is regarded as a strong and clever boxer, and his chances of success are good.
